Getting To Know Your Service Members

I am Kevin – an alcoholic who is knee-scrapingly grateful for the program and the fellowship of AA. I am a proud member of the Calvary United Group, where have been active throughout my sobriety.

Currently my position at Intergroup is “Alternate Treasurer,” which means my primary responsibility is to work with a partner looking after bookkeeping and filing for the London & Middlesex Intergroup organization including the store, the hotline, the social committee and the Alkathon.

I have only recently come to appreciate how participation in the formal service structure of AA can contribute to the quality of my experience in this fellowship and in life. In the past I have viewed it as just another painful team project that can bring out the worst in me. But this is true only when I let myself be drawn into controversy or succumb to inner grandiosity.

When I do my best to stifle the inner critic and give myself to this service it can be a spiritual exercise in patience, tolerance and humility and a wonderful opportunity to put my boundless gratitude for this new life into action. The struggles I experience in service are actually battles with myself, and I need to keep this top-of-mind in order to grow along spiritual lines. Not every place has a local Intergroup or an AA store, and we are blessed to have this in our area to carry the message of hope for the hopeless.

Thank you for the opportunity to participate.
Peace and joy,
Kevin D.
